Subject: Application for Analyst, Information Technology Co-op/Intern - Summer 2024

Dear Marisa,

I am writing to express my keen interest in the Analyst, Information Technology Co-op/Intern position at Deloitte, as advertised for Summer 2024. Deloitte's commitment to building a better future and accelerating knowledge aligns perfectly with my enthusiasm for technology and innovation. I am excited about the prospect of contributing to Deloitte's diverse and dynamic IT teams and further developing my skills in a challenging and collaborative environment.

As a current student pursuing a Bachelor of Applied Sciences in Computer Science at McMaster University, I have acquired a strong foundation in technology and a deep interest in IT project management. My academic journey is complemented by hands-on experience gained during a comprehensive 12-week Cyber Security Bootcamp in the summer of 2023, where I developed expertise in foundational cyber security principles, network management, scripting, incident response, and vulnerability assessment. Proficient in Python, C, and Java, I am also skilled in using Microsoft Suite.

In addition to my academic and technical skills, my leadership experience as the founder of CryptX, my High School Computer Club, sets me apart. Steering the cyber security division, I demonstrated organizational and mentoring capabilities by successfully organizing and moderating a week-long intraschool Hackathon. This experience, along with my role as a Student Invigilator at McMaster University and as a Crew Member at McDonald's, has refined my professionalism, communication, and teamwork abilities.

Your specific requirements for this role resonate with my skill set, including proficiency in technologies such as SharePoint, .Net, SQL Server Database, and experience using data analysis tools. My exposure to networking technologies, along with my ability to work effectively in teams, positions me well to contribute to the Support Services team and the broader IT functions at Deloitte.

I am particularly drawn to the Project & Planning Services team and the opportunity to serve as a Project Management Analyst. My enthusiasm for project governance and resource management aligns with the responsibilities outlined in your posting. I am eager to leverage my skills in preparing work products, contributing to decision-making processes, and supporting the overall PMO governance process.

I am open to travel anywhere in Canada and am enthusiastic about the chance to contribute to Deloitte's impactful work. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss my qualifications further in an interview and learn more about how I can contribute to the success of Deloitte.

Thank you for considering my application. I am eager to bring my skills and passion for technology to Deloitte and contribute to its purpose of making an impact that matters.

Sincerely,

Jasraj Singh Johal
